

Jane Siberry

Jane Siberry, a highly respected figure in the international music scene with a career spanning over four decades, is starting her upcoming tour on March 19th in Oregon and concluding on April 29th in Halifax. Known for her ethereal voice, poetic lyrics, and genre-defying sound, Jane has captivated audiences worldwide since the 1980s, delivering an impressive catalog of 15 studio albums and countless live performances.

This tour marks an exciting chapter in Jane's career as she introduces her new album, a project born out of the stillness and introspection of the pandemic. The album is being released one song at a time, the first in autumn of 2024, each track offering reflection on aspects of human endurance in Siberry's unique voice. With topics ranging from Atlantis to cash bailouts to hospital waiting rooms to mice-as-teachers, the recording is an exploration that offers an intriguing perspective.

Jane's live performances are renowned for their emotional depth, humourous and moving storytelling, and the spontaneous magic that happens when she is on stage. Tour audiences can expect an intimate and transformative concert experience, blending classics from her repertoire with new pieces.

Jane Siberry has continually pushed the boundaries of what it means to be an artist, now particularly focused on how musicians can work with peaceful productivity in the changing music industry. This tour, alongside the release of her new music, is a testament to her enduring creative spirit and commitment to making music that matters.
